Financial literacy is the ability to understand how money works in the world: how someone manages to earn or make it, how that person manages it, how he/she invests it and how that person donates it to help others. More specifically, it refers to the set of skills and knowledge that allows an individual to make informed and effective decisions with all of their financial resources.

This skill set is for community workers whose clients may be facing issues related to the basic day to day management of their finances and who may be at risk of increasing debt and its associated risks. It provides a set of skills for provision of basic financial literacy education for clients.

In working through the learning materials and activities for this skill set, you will develop the skills required to educate people on money management and basic consumer credit issues.

The training will be offered via Booth Online. The course will be self-paced commencing in June 2016 to be completed by October 2016. Contact us now to secure your place.

Units

| CHCEDU005   | Work with clients to identify financial literacy education needs |
| CHCEDU006   | Improve clients’ fundamental financial literacy |
| CHCEDU007   | Provide group education on consumer credit and debt |

Cost

The cost of the training is $900. There is a reduced rate for The Salvation Army officers, employees and volunteers. Please contact our office for further details.

This fee includes all learning and assessment resources and online support.

RPL is also offered and fees are available upon request.

System Requirements

- Internet access (minimum requirement is ADSL2) via Google Chrome or Mozilla Firefox.
- 2G, 3G and Dongle connections are not recommended.

To register your interest, please contact us:
P | (61) 02 9502 5011
E | vtoenquiries@aue.salvationarmy.org
W | boothcollege.edu.au